Planning your project

Clarity Security mirrored window film

Put the safety requirement first

Start by telling us why the glass needs assessment. A shopfront, office screen and door pane may have different project requirements. Send photographs, dimensions where known and the relevant building or safety brief. This lets us review the proposed arrangement before discussing appearance and fitting.

Review the reflective finish

The mirrored appearance changes how the window looks from outside. Ask about a sample where available, and include any restrictions on the external finish in your enquiry. If the room also needs evening privacy, plan for blinds or curtains because the daytime effect will vary with indoor and outdoor lighting.

Before you order

Mirrored film should not be relied on for privacy in a lit room after dark.

It does not make glass unbreakable or a building burglarproof.

Any required impact or blast performance needs specific supporting evidence and an appropriate system.
