Neutral privacy window film

A non-metallic privacy film with a subtle tinted exterior, for daytime screening without a strongly mirrored finish.

Neutral privacy film application example. Appearance depends on the selected film, the glass and the lighting on each side.

At a glance

- Subtle tinted exterior
- Non-metallic option with a lower internal mirror effect
- Daytime screening and glare control considered together

Planning your project

Neutral privacy window film

Check the view in both directions

Tell us which windows are overlooked and where someone can see in from. Street-level glazing, a neighbouring upper window and a garden boundary create different situations. Include photographs from inside and outside if possible, together with the times of day when privacy matters most.

Plan for evenings as well as daylight

The privacy effect relies on the balance of light on either side of the glass. Once it is brighter indoors, the view into the room may become clearer. Keep curtains or blinds in the plan if you need privacy in the evening; film can work alongside an existing window covering.

Before you order

Daytime privacy should not be relied upon after dark when the room is lit.

A tinted film changes the light passing through the glass; review a sample where available.

Privacy film is not automatically a safety or security film.

Measuring, supply and professional fitting

AdamsBlinds offers measuring within your project, made-to-measure film supply and professional installation. Supply-only enquiries are welcome. We confirm the film, dimensions, glazing compatibility and scope before you order.

Start with your windows

Send your pane count, approximate sizes, postcode and clear photographs, plus any glazing information. Tell us the main outcome you want. Initial estimates by email or WhatsApp are free.
