PRODUCT SELECTION / WOVEN WOOD AND BAMBOO

Bamboo Weave Roller Blinds

A natural bamboo surface specified as a chain-operated roller blind.

Product illustration. The agreed specification and finish determine the supplied product.

Bamboo Weave Roller uses a flexible bamboo material on a top-mounted roller system. It gives the window a strong natural texture while keeping the straightforward up-and-down movement of a roller blind.

The bamboo varies naturally in colour and strip dimensions. That variation is part of the surface rather than a uniform printed effect. The selected construction does not use decorative edge tape, so the visible material remains a central part of the design.

- Bamboo texture
- Simple roller movement
- An unbound natural edge appearance

BAMBOO WEAVE ROLLER BLINDS

Planning your specification

Options to discuss

- Available bamboo weave finish
- Chain control position
- Fitting arrangement matched to the top roll

Practical points

- Decorative edge tape is not offered for this construction
- Natural alignment and colour vary
- The roll needs sufficient headroom

How it works

The top tube and brackets are selected for the blind size. As the bamboo rolls up, it creates a stack whose diameter depends on the drop and material thickness. The position needs to clear inward-opening windows and other fittings.

Choosing the finish and details

View a sample against daylight to assess the spaces within the weave. We can then confirm whether the material meets the desired screening level and check the current size limits. The control and required safety details are included in the specification.
