Character Pine Wood Blinds

Pine Venetian blinds that keep the timber's knots, grain and natural variations visible.

Character Pine is a deliberately natural-looking wooden blind. Pine can show prominent grain, knots and differences of tone across the slats. That makes it a useful choice when the room already includes timber flooring, beams or furniture and you want the blind to share that material character.

This range should be selected for its variation rather than a perfectly uniform appearance. A sample gives an indication of finish, but a complete blind contains a much larger piece of the material's natural pattern. We confirm the currently available finishes and suitable dimensions before accepting an order.

- Visible natural grain and knots
- Two broad slat formats
- A distinctive alternative to plain painted wood

Planning your specification

Options to discuss

- Compatible pine finishes
- Matching valance and ladder details
- Operating system assessed for the blind size

Practical points

- Knots and grain vary between slats
- Pine has narrower size limits than some other timbers
- Natural timber responds to its environment

How it works

The source construction uses 50mm or 70mm slats with straight edges. Pine has different size limitations from the main abachi range, so a measurement that is suitable for one timber should not be assumed suitable for another. Larger openings may need an alternative timber or more than one blind.

Choosing the finish and details

Compare the pine finish with your existing wood in natural light. An exact grain match is not realistic, but similar warmth or contrast can give a coherent result. Identify neighbouring blinds at the start so the proposed layout and natural variation can be considered together.
