PRODUCT SELECTION / TIMBER SHUTTERS

Crafted Timber Shutters

A configurable abachi wood shutter with flat, curved and decorative louvre options, suited to windows that need a considered frame and panel layout.

Product illustration. The agreed specification and finish determine the supplied product.

Crafted Timber Shutters bring together natural wood, adjustable light and a wide choice of panel arrangements. The range starts with familiar flat or curved louvres, then adds more decorative profiles for interiors where the shutter forms part of the design.

Use a full-height arrangement for a continuous finish, a café layout for lower-window privacy, or separately opening upper and lower panels where the window needs more flexibility. The right choice depends on the opening, the handles and the space beside it.

- Several panel layouts within one timber range
- A choice of restrained or decorative louvre shapes
- Adjustable light with an integrated window finish

CRAFTED TIMBER SHUTTERS

Planning your specification

Options to discuss

- Flat or curved louvres
- Selected sculpted or decorative louvre profiles
- Full-height, café or independently opening sections
- Inside-reveal or face-fixed framing

Practical points

- Natural grain and tone vary between timber pieces.
- Special profiles do not share every standard size or finish.
- Panel widths, rails and frame details are confirmed for the opening.

A shutter with room for detail

The core construction uses abachi wood. Standard louvre choices include 50, 70 and 90 mm widths, with the available size depending on the profile. Curved, raised-centre, wave-shaped and decorative strip details give different results; these should be chosen from a matched sample rather than a name alone.

Painted, stained, printed and gloss finishes are offered within the wider range. Compatibility varies, so a finish shown elsewhere in the collection is not automatically suitable for every profile. We confirm the combination before preparing the order.

Match the panels to the window

Hinged panels, bay arrangements, tracked folding and sliding layouts address different openings. A wide opening may need several panels or a track rather than a single large leaf. Rails may also be required to divide tall panels and support their louvres.

During a project survey we check the reveal, frame position and clearance for each panel to open. This is particularly useful around projecting handles, deep sills and furniture placed close to a bay.
