PRODUCT SELECTION / COMPONENTS AND FINISHING DETAILS

Blind Ladder Cords

Ladder cord arrangements matched to the slat width and operating system.

Product illustration. The agreed specification and finish determine the supplied product.

Ladder cords support the slats and allow them to tilt. Their comparatively fine appearance keeps the slat surface more visible than a broad decorative tape. The spacing and construction must match the blind rather than being chosen purely by colour.

The collection includes standard ladder arrangements and selected privacy constructions. A privacy layout changes how the slats are supported and how lift cords relate to them; it is not a universal replacement for every conventional ladder.

- A relatively unobtrusive support
- Colour coordination
- Selected privacy-layout possibilities

BLIND LADDER CORDS

Planning your specification

Options to discuss

- Compatible ladder colours
- Standard or supported privacy arrangement
- System-specific pitch and length

Practical points

- Ladders are not universally interchangeable
- Photographs may need supporting measurements
- Component availability and quantities require confirmation

Specifying the item

For a new blind, we select the ladder with the slat width, headrail and control. For component supply, the existing system needs to be identified accurately. Small differences in pitch or fixing details can prevent the slats from sitting and operating correctly.

Choosing the finish and details

Send clear close-up photographs, approximate dimensions and the quantity required. If the parts relate to a previous AdamsBlinds order, include that reference. We confirm the compatible item and any minimum order requirement before quoting.

Supply and project support

AdamsBlinds can quote for compatible components on a supply-only basis or specify them within a complete supply and installation project. Send dimensions, photographs and the required quantity. We confirm compatibility, factory availability and any production minimum before an order is agreed.
