PRODUCT SELECTION / DECORATIVE BLINDS

Layered Design Wood Blinds

Abachi wood interrupted by regular aluminium inserts for a mixed-material Venetian.

Product illustration. The agreed specification and finish determine the supplied product.

Layered Design combines timber slats with aluminium inserts at regular intervals. The alternating materials give the blind a deliberate rhythm and connect the warmth of wood with a sharper metal detail. It is a different construction from a printed metallic effect.

The source arrangement places an aluminium insert after each group of four wood slats. An aluminium valance completes the top detail. The finish of the wood and metal should be considered together, especially beside metal-framed glazing or contemporary joinery.

- A true wood-and-metal combination
- Regular contrasting inserts
- Coordinated aluminium top detail

LAYERED DESIGN WOOD BLINDS

Planning your specification

Options to discuss

- Compatible wood finishes
- Aluminium insert and valance specification
- Supported ladder and control configuration

Practical points

- Exact slat format must be confirmed
- Mixed materials respond differently to their surroundings
- Finish combinations depend on factory availability

How it works

The compatible slat format and control are confirmed before quotation because the published size references are inconsistent. We specify the actual profile supplied rather than choosing between conflicting dimensions. The same check covers ladder details and the available finish combination.

Choosing the finish and details

Begin with the contrast you want: a quiet wood and metal pairing, or a more visible interruption across the window. A product image shows the repeating layout better than an isolated colour sample. We can then review the opening and fitting position.

Measuring, supply and installation

AdamsBlinds provides measuring as part of a supply and installation project, plus made-to-measure supply-only quotations. Send approximate dimensions, photographs and the number of blinds required to get started. We confirm the specification and final sizes before manufacture. Factory availability, order quantity and any discontinued options are checked for your quotation.
