Reflective Finish Venetian Blinds

Hand finished reflective surfaces on wooden Venetian slats.

Product illustration. The agreed specification and finish determine the supplied product.

Reflective Finish brings a mirror-like decorative surface to a wooden Venetian. The treatment is intended to become part of the room's visual character, reflecting light and surroundings across the slats as their angle changes.

The range uses 50mm or 70mm wood slats with a handcrafted reflective effect. The surface should be considered as a decorative finish rather than a precision household mirror. Individual marks and variations contribute to the appearance.

- A reflective decorative surface
- Hand finished character
- Adjustable slat angle

REFLECTIVE FINISH VENETIAN BLINDS

Planning your specification

Options to discuss

- Compatible reflective effects
- Supported slat widths
- Coordinated trim and operating system

Practical points

- Not a precision mirror product
- Reflections change with lighting and slat angle
- Hand finished surfaces are not identical

How it works

The blind tilts and lifts using a compatible mechanism, but reflected light can move noticeably as the slats turn. It is worth checking the proposed position in relation to screens, seating and other bright surfaces. The top and bottom finishing details are agreed with the chosen effect.

Choosing the finish and details

A physical or assembled sample is useful to judge the reflection and surface character. Tell us whether the effect should be subtle or deliberately prominent. We then check the material, controls and dimensions for the project.

Measuring, supply and installation

AdamsBlinds provides measuring as part of a supply and installation project, plus made-to-measure supply-only quotations. Send approximate dimensions, photographs and the number of blinds required to get started. We confirm the specification and final sizes before manufacture.
