PRODUCT SELECTION / WOVEN WOOD AND BAMBOO

Pleated Wood Blinds

Woven 50mm wood elements arranged into straight or shaped pleated profiles.

Product illustration. The agreed specification and finish determine the supplied product.

Pleated Wood combines slender wooden elements with a folding construction. It is offered in two profile styles, giving a different texture from both a woven Roman and a conventional Venetian with independently tilting slats.

The 50mm elements create repeated horizontal lines across the window. The two constructions form different raised stacks, so profile choice is about practical space as well as appearance. A matching wood valance can cover the metal headrail in the specified system.

- Distinctive pleated timber appearance
- A choice of profile
- Coordinated wood top detail

PLEATED WOOD BLINDS

Planning your specification

Options to discuss

- Compatible painted finishes
- Straight or shaped pleated construction
- Control and fitting arrangement

Practical points

- Different profiles create different stacks
- The blind does not operate like individually tilting Venetians
- Headroom must be checked for the full drop

How it works

The blind rises and gathers above the opening. We check the stack required for the chosen profile and drop, particularly where the window opens inward. Finish options are confirmed for the actual wood and assembly.

Choosing the finish and details

Compare the profiles in a product view or assembled sample where available. A colour swatch alone cannot show how the folds sit. Tell us whether you want the blind mostly lowered or frequently raised so we can consider clearance and operation.

Measuring, supply and installation

AdamsBlinds provides measuring as part of a supply and installation project, plus made-to-measure supply-only quotations. Send approximate dimensions, photographs and the number of blinds required to get started. We confirm the specification and final sizes before manufacture. Factory availability, order quantity and any discontinued options are checked for your quotation.
