PRODUCT SELECTION / WOVEN WOOD AND BAMBOO

Woven Wood Vertical Blinds

Woven wood formed into 127mm vertical slats for tilting and side-drawing control.

Woven Wood Vertical brings a woven timber surface to a conventional vertical blind movement. The 127mm slats tilt for daylight control and gather sideways, making the range useful when you want texture without a broad sliding-panel layout.

This format is compatible with a limited selection of weaves. A material that works in a Roman or roller blind is not automatically suitable as a hanging vertical slat. We confirm the actual weave and current finish options before quoting.

- Woven texture with tilting control
- Side-drawing movement
- A narrower alternative to sliding panels

WOVEN WOOD VERTICAL BLINDS

Planning your specification

Options to discuss

- Available compatible weave finishes
- Track and draw arrangement
- Joint overlap where adjacent blinds are required

Practical points

- Only selected weaves suit this format
- Open texture can limit privacy
- Adjacent blinds need a planned overlap

How it works

The track and slat arrangement include the appropriate lower detailing for the system. If two blinds need to meet across one opening, the overlap must be specified so the join is considered in the layout. Draw direction and handle clearance are assessed at the same stage.

Choosing the finish and details

Choose the weave for its screening effect as well as its colour. A sample held against the window gives a better indication of the gaps between strips. We then confirm the track, control and fitting details for the chosen opening.
